The programme aims to

- provide an intellectually challenging and stimulating curriculum that draws on the research expertise and teaching strengths in, or closely associated with, the Centre for American Studies;
- deliver a multidisciplinary American Studies syllabus with a clear line of progression from introductory modules in Year One, via intermediate modules in Year Two, to opportunities for all students to concentrate on aspects of particular interest in specialist modules in the Final Year;

- create a supportive environment to assist the students’ academic, cultural and personal development;
- develop students’ ability to initiate and carry out independent research on topics relating to American history, politics and culture;
- foster students’ independent thinking and judgement;
- harness students’ individual interests and enthusiasms through the diverse academic approaches that are embedded in the multidisciplinary structure of the American Studies degree – a structure that also reflects diversity in the curriculum;
- provide a learning experience in which transferable skills can be developed alongside specific subject knowledge to equip students for a range of career opportunities;
- develop students’ ability to access, organise, and present information to professional standards of accuracy, articulacy, and precision, including the acquiring and use of relevant bibliographical skills;
- develop students’ skills in close reading and historical, political and cultural analysis.

In addition the BA American Studies with a Year Abroad programme aims to:

- enable students to study for one year at a University in North America.

10. Progression points:

In cases where a student has failed to meet a requirement to progress he or she will be required to withdraw from the course.

Students on the three year degree (BA American Studies) who wish to transfer to the four year degree (BA American Studies with a year abroad) will have to satisfy the June Board of Examiners of both their academic performance and their good academic standing before their transfer can be confirmed.

Note: There are minimum grades for entry to North American universities. It is a requirement of the University of Leicester that all students spending a year at a partner institution in the US/Canada shall have satisfied the American Studies Examination Board that they have passed all their first and second year modules before departing on the year abroad. If there are elements of assessment that have not been satisfactorily completed at the time of the June Examination Board, the year in the United States will be put in jeopardy.

11. Scheme of Assessment

This programme follows the standard scheme of award and classification set out in Senate Regulation 5.

12. Special features:

Three year degree: Students are eligible to apply to transfer to the 4-year American Studies degree, with a year abroad in North America. The structure of the degree has flexibility and choice built into it: from multidisciplinary courses (The American West; The American City), and American history options in Year 2, to specialist options across American Studies in the Final Year.

Four year degree: The third year is spent on a year abroad at one of a wide variety of partner institutions in North America. This enables students to develop specific disciplines of interest and to work closely with archives and primary documents that are unavailable in the UK, in preparation for writing the dissertation. The structure of the degree has flexibility and choice built into it: from multidisciplinary courses (on The American West, and The City), and American History options in Year 2, to specialist options across American Studies in the Final Year.

13. Indications of programme quality

The programme has regularly been ranked among the top ten American Studies programmes in the country in the National Student Survey and across the three major University Subject League Tables. It is currently ranked 6th in The Complete University Guide and in The Guardian. Our value added score is currently well above average. The programme has also been regularly praised by external examiners for its breadth, innovation and rigour.

14. External Examiner(s) reports

The details of the External Examiner(s) for this programme and the most recent External Examiners' reports for this programme can be found here.

BA American Studies with a Year Abroad

The programme structure is as for first, second and final year modules for the three-year programme (above). The third year is spent abroad at an approved partner institution in North America. During their year abroad students take approved courses at the partner institution. In their final year students take a core year-long dissertation module: 'AM3002: Dissertation with Research in the USA' (45 credits) in place of AM3001.

The programme is assessed as a Four Year Programme with a year abroad. The year abroad counts towards the final classification, with the second, third and fourth years used to determine the degree class, according to the standard scheme for four-year undergraduate programmes.
