6. Accreditation of Prior Learning:
   Students can APL up to 60 credits into the PG Diploma or the MSc from another course and in accordance with Senate Regulation 2 and the University Policy on the Accreditation of Prior Learning. Credits must be at Level 7 and must be relevant to the programme. All APL of credits will be considered on an individual basis by the course directors once evidence of the APL credits has been submitted.

7. Programme aims
The programme aims to equip students with a sound knowledge and understanding of a broad range of topics in the Psychology of Work. This knowledge is based on only on theory and accumulated findings, but also on awareness of the strengths and limitations of research evidence and its application.
The modules studied assume a basic grounding in psychology and its methodologies. Each module covers key fields in details and explores the application of research to the world of work.

A particular aim of this programme is to make learning available to those who are unable to pursue a more conventional, campus-based programme.

By the end of the programme successful students will be able to demonstrate:

- integrated knowledge of psychological theory and methodology applicable to the study of people at work;
- skills of research and enquiry, independent learning and the use of contemporary information resources;
- competence in empirical research design, implementation and evaluation;
- reasoning, analysis and creativity at a postgraduate level;
- effective written communication skills

10. Special features

A number of the assignments require the student to take part in a role playing exercise, typically interpreting findings of research for clients or other interest groups. The objective here is to develop the skills of interpreting research within a particular context and communicating the findings to a non-specialist audience.

Students will have contact with a range of Occupational Psychology practitioners who work as course tutors. This gives the students a rounded learning experience and exposes them to a variety of career opportunities.

11. Indicators of programme quality

The course relies on the mainstream indicators (external examiner reports, student results, student feedback forms). In addition module materials are reviewed on an annual basis and completely rewritten when required. The course team are all committed to CPD which directly benefits the course and students.

12. Scheme of Assessment:

As defined in Senate Regulation 6: Regulations governing taught postgraduate programmes of study.

There is one exemption from the Senate Regulations to allow the course to comply with the BPS accreditation requirements:

13. Progression points

As defined in Senate Regulation 6: Regulations governing taught postgraduate programmes of study.

In cases where a student has failed to meet a requirement to progress he or she will be required to withdraw from the course and a recommendation will be made to the Board of Examiners for an intermediate award where appropriate.

14. Rules relating to re-sits or re-submissions:

As defined in Senate Regulation 6: Regulations governing taught postgraduate programmes of study.

15. Additional features (e.g. timetable for admissions)

Applications will be considered on a rolling basis from January to August.

16. External Examiners

The details of the External Examiner(s) for this programme and the most recent External Examiners’ reports can be found here.
