Other than standard credit transfers where students have completed the first year of a comparable programme at another university (60% is the equivalency of standard whilst 120 APEL credits would be the standard transfer), it is not expected that there will be any exemptions for specific modules on the programme.

7. Programme aims:

The programme aims:

- To enable students to explore their interests in Film and English literature through a syllabus that offers a secure foundation in core subject knowledge in those subjects as well as the opportunity for progression, specialisation and independent study.
 - To provide an intellectually challenging and stimulating curriculum drawing on the teaching strengths and research expertise of the Film Studies and English
 - To develop students' knowledge and skills in these subject areas.
 - To develop students' critical abilities in 'reading' both film and literary texts.
 - To help students understand film and literary texts in relation to their wider historical and cultural contexts.
 - To enhance students' understanding of the disciplines of Film Studies and English Literature.
 - To develop students' ability to communicate their ideas clearly and effectively in a variety of forms including both written and oral communication.
 - To enable students to be able to carry out independent supervised research by writing their final-year dissertation.
 - To foster students' independent thinking, analytical problem-solving and critical judgement.
 - To enable and assist students in developing the transferable skills necessary for successful career development and effective independent learning.

- To offer the possibility, after satisfactory completion of the first year, to transfer to Film Studies and English with a Year Abroad, a 4-year degree course which entails a year's study at one of our sister departments (e.g. Rome, Pisa, Montpellier, Groningen and Berlin).

For Year Abroad Students

- to enable students to develop and broaden their learning experience in Film Studies by studying at a non-UK, European University;
- to enable students to develop their linguistic abilities, by attending lectures and classes and completing assessment in the native language of a non-UK, European University;
- to enable students to enrich their all-round educational and personal development by studying at a non-UK, European University.

10. Progression points:

In accordance with Senate Regulation 5: Regulations governing undergraduate programmes of study, in cases where a student has failed to meet a requirement to progress he or she will be required to withdraw from the course.

For students on the Year Aboard programme in order to proceed to the fourth year of the course students must pass their year abroad. The year abroad does not otherwise count towards the final classification of the degree.

Students on the four-year variant of this degree programme must have no more than 30 credits of year two modules outstanding before entering their final year. A student who does not achieve the threshold level will normally be required to transfer to the three-year variant of this programme, but will be considered by a progression board on a case-by-case basis prior to entering the final year of their studies.

11. Scheme of Assessment

This programme follows the University's regulations governing undergraduate programmes: <http://www2.le.ac.uk/offices/sas2/regulations/documents/senatereg5-undergraduates.pdf>

12. Special features:

The possibility, after satisfactory completion of the first year, to transfer to Film Studies and English with a Year Abroad, a 4-year degree course which entails a year's study at one of our sister departments (e.g. Rome, Pisa, Montpellier, Groningen and Berlin).

13. Indications of programme quality

The contributing departments have both been rated 'excellent' in their teaching by the last subject-specific QAA inspection. In the 2014 REF both departments had 98% of their research judged to be of international excellence or significance.

The programme has received consistently positive reports from external examiners. In her 2015/16 report, our external examiner wrote that the 'Film programme, which I had pleasure to assess for four years, is well designed, offering a wide range of modules and a clear progression from the second to third year.'

14. External Examiner(s) reports
