6. Accreditation of Prior Learning

We do not accept APL on this programme.

7. Programme aims

The programme aims to:

- develop an approach to the study of the Classical Mediterranean that takes a critical perspective to the long history of the investigation of its textual and material remains
- develop an approach to the Classical world that engages with current debates and cutting edge theoretical approaches in ancient history and classical archaeology;
- provide students with a high level of competence in the cultures of the classical Mediterranean, by exploring chosen specialist subjects;
- develop students' methodological expertise in critical use of source materials;
- enable students to reflect critically on the economic, social, political, cultural, artistic and religious developments and interaction between the various regions and powers of the Mediterranean region in classical antiquity;
- develop students' ability to conduct independent research ;
- build students' awareness of the potential of interdisciplinary research;
- promote thoughtful and ethical research practices;
- enhance the career prospects of students, whether in archaeology, ancient history or other professions or research, especially through equipping them with essential transferable skills (written and oral communication, team-working, numeracy, IT);
- equip students with the skills they will need to advance to research degrees

Critically select and analyse primary material for addressing research questions.	Problem-oriented exercises; research supervision;); feedback and project supervision	Essays, assessed and self-assessed exercises, other assignments (e.g. reports), and dissertation.

vi) Working relationships

Intended Learning Outcomes	Teaching and Learning Methods	How Demonstrated?
Know how to draw appropriately on specialist knowledge; ability to contribute to and comment upon ideas	Problem-oriented exercises; research supervision; feedback and project supervision and/or field-based module practical sessions; analysis of professional experience	Contribution to discussion lists and to dissertation proposal discussions, Group work, discussions and seminars within field-based module

vii) Managing learning

Intended Learning Outcomes	Teaching and Learning Methods	How Demonstrated?
Demonstrate independence and time management and organizational skills. Identify a feasible research project; establish a realistic research time-table, reflecting on and 'writing up' results, including developing specialised analytical skills.	Formal guidance on seminar presentations; course workbook and other course and University resources; coursework schedules and expectations; peer pressure and discussion; assignment feedback and dissertation supervision.	meeting coursework deadlines for assignments, exercises and dissertation; demonstrating progress in assignments throughout the course.

viii) Career management

Intended Learning Outcomes	Teaching and Learning Methods	How Demonstrated?
Ability to demonstrate the above transferable skills; independent research skills appropriate for progress to doctoral research	Tutorial discussion and advice; career advice resources provided by the University and the School	Award of the degree; discussion of career prospects and future plans with Programme Coordinator, Postgraduate Tutor and other academic mentors in the School; use and completion of University-supplied resources and courses

10. Special features

This MA is highly distinctive, focusing as it does on the integration of Archaeology and Ancient History. It is suitable for students with a background in classics, ancient history, classical archaeology, or archaeology. This postgraduate programme differs dramatically from traditional Master's level programmes in Classical Archaeology, or in Ancient History in that it offers a fully integrated approach to both classical texts and material culture. It also offers a stronger theoretical framework than many comparable degrees. This programme provides students with sophisticated conceptual tools to address BOTH archaeological and written source materials, and the issues they generate.

The importance of understanding the different traditions and disciplines involved in study of the Classical world is emphasised throughout the programme, including the continued importance of the Classical World throughout subsequent periods.

10.1 Progression Points

a) Course transfers

- i. The course transfers process (allowing students to transfer to other degree courses and change their intensity of study) is set out here on the University's web pages.
- ii. Students may transfer between Full-Time and Part-Time modes of study, subject to approval by the School. A student wishing to change their intensity of study must submit their application no later than the term before the intended transfer.

A transfer between Full-Time and Part-Time study:

- a. may not be implemented in the middle of a taught module.
- b. will only be granted at the half-way point in the taught element of the programme (i.e. when 60 credits of the Level have been completed) OR at the end of the taught element of the programme (i.e. when 120 credits of the Level have been completed).
- iii. There are some potential financial implications of transferring courses and/or moving between Full- and Part-Time modes of study, which students must consider and address before deciding to go ahead with a transfer application. Students are strongly recommended to contact both the DL Hub (DLstudy@le.ac.uk) and the Welfare Office to discuss any financial implications before initiating the transfer process.

10. 2 Intakes, Study Intensity and Order of Study

You may begin your programme in either October or February.

Modules are offered at three points in a year, i.e. October, February or June.

Full-Time students should usually study two modules per module start date, and part-time students should study one module per module start date.

	October Start	February Start
	Full time	Part time
October	1. AR7552 2. AR7553	AR7525 OR AR7553
February	1. AR7528 2. AR7560	AR7525 OR AR7553
June	AR7526	AR7528 OR AR7560
October		AR7528 OR AR7560

February		AR7526
June		AR7526

11. Indicators of programme quality

External examiners' reports on the quality of the programme have been uniformly supportive, albeit not without constructive comments and suggestions that have actively informed its ongoing development and review.

The following comments are taken directly from the external examiner's reports:

"The high quality of teaching shone through the materials submitted – the feedback was also very helpful."

"The course materials were laid out in an exemplary manner. The content of the MA/PG Dip/PG Cert Classical Mediterranean was wide ranging, engaged with current research issues and prepared the students well for their assignments."

"The assessments struck me as well designed, and appropriate for modules at postgraduate level – they aimed to introduce students to the disciplines of PG work, developed their critical awareness and tested their abilities to research and develop an argument."

"I would once again emphasise the success of this Masters course, the high achievement of the best candidates and the dedication and skill of those teaching it"

12. Criteria for award and classification

This programme follows the standard scheme of taught postgraduate award and classification set out in Senate Regulations – see the version of Senate Regulation 6 governing taught postgraduate programmes of study relevant to year of entry.

13. Progression points

As defined in Senate Regulations - refer to the version of Senate Regulation 6 governing taught postgraduate programmes of study relevant to year of entry.

In cases where a student has failed to meet a requirement to progress he or she will be required to withdraw from the course and a recommendation will be made to the Board of Examiners for an intermediate/exit award where appropriate.

14. Rules relating to re-sits or re-submissions

As defined in Senate Regulations - refer to the version of Senate Regulation 6 governing taught postgraduate programmes of study relevant to year of entry.

15. External Examiners reports

The details of the External Examiner(s) for this programme and the most recent External Examiners' reports for this programme can be found at exampapers@Leicester [log-in required]

16. Additional features (e.g. timetable for admissions)

Admissions are in October, February and June
