10. Special features

The programme is aimed at non-specialists, who do not necessarily have a degree in business or management, but who wish to acquire the necessary skills and knowledge to become well-rounded managers. The programme covers four broad areas: strategic financial management; accounting for accountability and decision making; management, marketing and operations; and business analytics. Each of these topics are covered in each of the four taught credit bearing modules. The programme also incorporates topics on sustainability, accountability, and international agendas. Students will be able to access a set of extra-curricular activities and services to improve their employability skills, such as carbon literacy accreditation and computer programming workshops. An ad-hoc Business Analytics module that will equip students with a solid foundation in data analysis and interpretation tools.

11. Indicators of programme quality

- a. University Academic Review
