7. Programme aims

The programme aims to

- provide a broad and detailed understanding of the theoretical framework in film and cultural study and make students familiar with the major developments in the history of the cinematic arts since its inception to present-day;
 - provide an excellent foundation for a wide range of careers by equipping students with the knowledge and generic skills in preparation for employment in the film and visual arts worlds (cinema management, film distribution, museums, galleries, auction houses, arts administration), and in journalism, advertising, public relations and education;
 - enable students to develop independent learning skills;
 - promote flexibility of thought, encourage intellectual initiative and develop visual skills;
 - stimulate intellectual development and develop powers of critical analysis, written communication skills and presentational skills;
 - provide stimuli and the skills of research, analysis and presentation necessary for further study at postgraduate level where appropriate;
 - provide opportunities to learn and understand the history of cinematic art in a research environment;
- (For Year Abroad Students)*
- to enable students to develop and broaden their learning experience in Film Studies by studying at a non-UK, European University;
 - to enable students to develop their linguistic abilities, by attending lectures and classes and completing assessment in the native language of a non-UK, European University;
 - to enable students to enrich their all-round educational and personal development by studying at a non-UK, European University.

11. Criteria for award and classification

This programme follows the standard scheme of undergraduate award and classification set out in Senate Regulations – see the version of Senate Regulation 5 governing undergraduate programmes relevant to the year of entry.

12. Special features

- This is the one of the only a few film programmes in the UK that benefit from the close collaboration with History of Art colleagues and their teaching and research expertise.
- The programme also benefits from being based in the School of Arts, allowing for collaboration with colleagues in English and Modern Languages.
- Opportunities to learn and understand theoretical and historical aspects of the cinematic art in a thriving research environment.
- An introductory course in film production, which provides the elements of basic literacy for those who decide to pursue careers in filmmaking.
- The possibility, after satisfactory completion of the first year, to transfer to the BA Film Studies (European Union), a Four-year degree course, which entails a year's study abroad.

13. Indications of programme quality

The programme has received consistently positive reports from external examiners. In her 2015/16 report, our external examiner wrote that the 'Film programme, which I had pleasure to assess for four years, is well designed, offering a wide range of modules and a clear progression from the second to third year.'

14. External Examiner(s) reports
