About Graduate Teaching Assistants

Graduate Teaching Assistantships allow you to fund your PhD study through part-time teaching work with the University. The Graduate Teaching Assistant is responsible to the Head of Department and is expected to undertake teaching related duties as required within the Department, not normally exceeding the equivalent of six/seven contact hours per week during term time.

Main Duties and Accountabilities

You will undertake teaching, and other activities supporting the work of the Department and in so doing will aid in developing and enhancing both its internal and external reputation:

• To be available for consultation by campus based and, where appropriate, by email and during appropriately specified office hours.
• To ensure that student feedback on teaching is sought, through questionnaires and other means, and to respond constructively to such feedback and to advice from peers.
• To undertake academic duties (e.g. providing feedback to undergraduate students on assessed work, to participate in the assessment of the field tests, to provide pastoral support of students) required to sustain the delivery of high quality teaching.
• To maintain broad knowledge of up-to-date teaching and scholarship in relevant fields to ensure that teaching meets the standards expected within a research-led University.
• To pursue doctoral teaching of high quality in the relevant field.
• To disseminate the results of teaching and scholarship, e.g. through presentation in the teaching seminar series in the Department.
• To contribute fully to the teaching culture of the Department through attendance and participation in staff seminars, internal seminars and workshops, PhD seminars, and other means, as appropriate.
